

Half Way

Benito Bear could only crawl half way into his cubby-hole. One whole object separated into two equal parts is a half. A half is what we call a fraction. Walk around your room and list everything you can see that has two halves.

As Benito Bear only got half way into his hole, draw other animals in the space below. Draw a line through the animals to show two halves.

