

Three words

Sol surmises his hypnotherapy needs come under three words - confidence, stress or fears. He wonders if he could get a discount if he went for all three together -

I'm stressing because I fear Aggo will wipe me on the handball court and my confidence at Pozzebon Central will drop to zero.

Roll a die. Whatever number you roll, write down the corresponding word from column 1. Do the same for columns 2 and 3. You now have three words. Put these words into a sentence to describe Sol's feelings at any stage during Oddball.

	Column 1	Column 2	Column 3
1	worry	self-belief	nerves
2	horror	good-spirits	anxiety
3	memory	dread	confidence
4	pressure	joy	buoyancy
5	optimism	strain	assurance
6	poise	Fear	terror

Roll the die and select 3 new words. Have another go at describing Sol's feelings at a different time during Oddball.

Rule your own table and insert your own words. Roll the die and select 3 words. Use these words in one sentence to describe another character's feelings during Oddball.
